

WHY BATTLESHIPS GO TO THE PACIFIC

To Demonstrate to World What American Navy Can do to Protect the Country.

NOT SO VIEWED IN EUROPE.

Great Britain Apprehensive Over Japanese Situation—Germany and France Look for a War.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 7.—The significance of Rear Admiral Brownson's addition to the somewhat meager information which has come from President Roosevelt regarding the contemplated two ocean maneuvers of the Atlantic battleship fleet, is regarded here as having been overlooked in the comment, and otherwise, which has since been indulged in on both continents. Admiral Brownson came to Oyster Bay Friday to take lunch with the president, professing entire ignorance of the maneuver plans. When he left Sagamore Hill to take the train for Washington, the admiral had one thought which he wished emphasized—that it was desirable and important to demonstrate to the world how quickly the American navy could transfer its fighting strength from one ocean to the other.

This was distinctly an addition to the president's previous statement issued through Secy. Loch wherein the object of the maneuvers was said to be an exercise movement for the benefit of the navy, to perfect its training in fleet exercise on an extended scale, the purpose and effect of the plan being for the benefit of the navy alone. What came from President Roosevelt through Admiral Brownson is decidedly different. President Roosevelt has been consistent in advocating a large navy as the guarantee of peace between the United States and all foreign powers. He has been consistent in pointing out the number of ships, their tonnage, armor, guns and fighting capacity. With this idea the American navy has grown steadily, ship by ship.

To the somewhat uninteresting array of ships and tonnage President Roosevelt now proposes to give the world a somewhat startling demonstration of what the American navy is capable of doing to protect either or both of the extended shores of the United States. An Admiral Brownson said, "There is no time like the present for such a demonstration," a time when the United States is at peace with every nation.

In everything that has come from the president regarding the movement it has been indicated that the fleet, wherever it may go, is to be brought back to the Atlantic, and that the return is to be as great a demonstration of speed as the outward journey.

While it is asserted with all possible emphasis that there is no foundation for apprehension of immediate or future difficulty between the United States and Japan, the proposed demonstration with the fleet can be looked upon in no other light than that President Roosevelt intends to use the fleet as a guarantee for exactly that purpose for which he has advocated its augmentation—a guarantee of international peace. It was stated here today that Ambassador O'Brien, who has been invited to Sagamore Hill the latter part of the present week, will not be able to confer with the president before going to his new post in Tokyo. The ambassador finds it necessary to devote some time to his personal affairs in Michigan, and will not find it convenient to return to the east before departing by the way of San Francisco for Japan. It was remarked that there was no occasion for a conference between the president and Ambassador O'Brien other than the formality of official exchange.

ENGLAND'S POSITION DIFFICULT.

London, July 7.—The political tension between the United States and Japan is exciting the keenest interest among all the European diplomats. None of them, however, believe that it will reach the stage of warfare, because the heavy burden of Japan is carrying as a result of her failure to obtain indemnity from Russia for her losses in the Russo-Japanese war.

How to Fool a Lazy Liver with Artificial Exercise

EVERY serious Sickness has a small beginning.

And, in nine cases out of ten, that beginning is made in the Bowels.

Constipation is the beginning of most diseases. It paves the way for all others.

Lack of exercise, hasty eating, improper food, are its first causes.

Laziness, and postponement, permit it to grow into Chronic Constipation, which means life-long Discomfort.

It isn't necessary to be sick-a-bed, you know, in order to be mighty uncomfortable. Even a slight indigestion affects the nerves, dulls the mind, and obscures the merry sunshine of Life.

The time to adjust the Bowels is the very minute you suspect they need adjustment.

—If your tongue is slightly coated,
—If your breath is under suspicion,
—If your head feels a trifle heavy or dull,
—If digestion seems even a little slow,
—If Heartburn, Belching, Colic or Restlessness begin to show themselves,
—That's the time to eat a Cascaree.

It acts as pleasantly as it tastes. It is as congenial to your Bowels as it is to your Palate.

It stimulates the muscular lining of the Bowels and Intestines, so that they mechanically extract nourishment from the food and drive out the waste.

The only way to have Cascaree ready to use precisely when you need them is to carry them constantly in your pocket, as you do a Watch or a Lead pencil.

The ten cent box of Cascaree is made thin, flat, round-edged, and small, for this precise purpose.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every label stamped "COC." All druggists.

Why Baby's Food Disagrees

An unnatural food is almost certain to disagree with baby.

Did you ever hear a well mother, who was nursing her baby, say that baby's food did not agree with him?

Most mothers say that baby's food disagrees with him.

Sanpure Milk is nature's food. It contains the same things mother's milk does—in almost the same quantities, it is more nearly like mother's milk than any other infant's food.

Cow's milk forms hard, lumpy curds in the baby's stomach—that is why foods mixed with unchanged cow's milk do not agree with baby.

Sanpure Milk is cow's milk with the curds left out. The formula is on every can—show it to your doctor.

colonies and the matter of anti-Japanese laws. Transvaal has just put into operation a law regulating the entry of Asiatics, which applies to all subjects, as well as to the Japanese and the Chinese, and which compels them to submit to an examination and registry with thumb prints, fingerprints, and other identifying marks.

Alfred Deakin, the Australian premier, during his recent visit to England, repeatedly said in his speeches that the chief national question with which Australia must deal was the menace of the inflow of Japanese labor.

GERMANY LOOKS FOR WAR.

Berlin, July 7.—The conviction of an ultimatum between Japan and the United States appears to be widespread in Germany. It is one of the subjects certain to be referred to at the annual congress of the German League of Nations and military experts.

The newspapers agree that President Roosevelt is earnestly trying to satisfy the Japanese. They agree also that Japan asks nothing unreasonable. They recognize that the difficulty lies in the question of race, the economic antagonism of the Californians against the Japanese and the constitutional impossibility of federal coercion.

It is believed by many that the group of ruling statesmen in Japan are preparing to fight the United States for the mastery of the Pacific, regardless of the San Francisco incident.

The strategists of the admiralty regard a naval war between Japan and the United States as the most interesting problem of the day. Careful studies that have been worked out are unfavorable to the United States, because the American fleet, although of greater power than that of Japan, would have to seek a fight in Japan's home waters.

Views of Peace Delegates.

The Hague, July 7.—The sentiment of the delegates to the peace conference regarding the question that has arisen between the United States and Japan is that the situation is unfortunate for both countries as the original incident causing tension between the two countries is disproportionate to the grave results which may follow. The question the delegates think is likely to create a hostile atmosphere, endangering their reciprocal commerce to which the former friendly relations has opened a vast field.

Although the sending of a fleet by the United States to the Pacific coast cannot be interpreted as a threat, it is generally admitted here that such action may give rise to dangerous popular excitement, which the United States might not be able to control. The Spanish representatives say that the United States has now found a hard nut to crack. The Russian remark that the predictions of Witte that the next war will be between Japan and the United States is approaching realization. The English, French and Japanese delegates believe that both governments at Washington and at Tokyo sincerely wish to reach an understanding and will not be influenced by jingoism.

Some of the Germans here are of the opinion that the situation may lead to an American-German entente, which, while preventing the isolation of Germany, would be the strongest compact against British supremacy that could be made.

AS FRANCE SEES IT.

Paris, July 7.—President Roosevelt's decision to dispatch a fleet of warships to the Pacific has led the more sensational newspapers in France to jump to the conclusion that the situation is delicate, that the dispatch of the fleet will protect the United States against being caught napping and diplomatically it will force Japan's hand, if that nation harbors aggressive designs.

A significant feature of the French comment is that the possibility of trouble occurring is considered only from the side of Japan. The Soleil regards the dispatch of the fleet as a move toward the real issue, which, it thinks, may be traced to the determination of Japan to enforce her commercial supremacy in China and the Pacific.

"For Japan, now or never," it adds, "in 10 years, when the American fleet's predominance is unchallengeable and the Panama canal has been completed, it will be too late."

JAPANESE ARE WIDE AWAKE.

Tokio, July 7.—Confirmation of the report that a powerful battleship squadron would be sent to the Pacific has generally been received with calmness, though there is some surprise in certain quarters, well versed in diplomatic niceties.

It is said that the sudden change of program in the case of the Japanese training squadron last January, when it was first intended that its voyage should include San Francisco and other Pacific coast cities was evidently in deference to the wishes of the Washington government made known to the Tokyo authorities in an indirect but unmistakable manner. The change of route was decided upon only a couple of days before the squadron sailed.

It was thought then that Japan acted wisely in avoiding a course which might have proved injurious when a strong anti-Japanese sentiment was prevailing in San Francisco. Though officially the dispatch of the battleships to the Pacific is not directed towards Japan, it is felt here that it is most inopportune when an attempt is evidently going on to impair the traditional friendship between Japan and the United States.

Though not the slightest apprehension is entertained here it is thought it will be better to defer at this moment anything that would be open to the slightest suspicion of provocation, especially when a portion of the American public is thought to be over-sensitive over the present state of the relationship of Japan and the United States.

Japan brought about its prejudice against the Japanese in a section of the latter's dominion.

JAP ADMIRAL'S ESTIMATE OF AMERICAN NAVY.

Tokio, July 7.—The Hochi this morning prints an interview with Admiral Sakamoto in which the admiral is quoted as follows:

"Should hostilities break out between Japan and America, the result would be indecisive owing to a want of proper bases of operations. Such bases as exist are too distant for practical purposes."

"Even if the Washington government should decide on a war, it is doubtful if the Americans serving in the navy are sufficiently patriotic to fight."

"American naval officers are brilliant figures at balls and social gatherings, but they are very deficient in professional training and practice. It is too much to expect a burning patriotism in the American naval service in case of war with Japan."

"It is very likely that most of the crews would desert and leave the ships."

BOMBS THROWN AT TRAIN.

Grodno, Russia, July 7.—A number of bombs were thrown today at a train carrying the life guard regiment of Tsarskoe-Rele. The bombs exploded with terrific force, but the train kept the rails and nobody was injured.

WISCONSIN ELEVATORS.

State Railroad Commission Orders Them Opened to the Public.

Madison, Wis., July 7.—The Wisconsin railroad commission issued an order to establish the grain elevators and the Eastern Railway companies of Minnesota, and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railroad company to open their big grain elevators to private parties, thus practically closing them to the use of the general public.

If the order stands and is not overturned by the courts, it will, it is believed, re-establish the grain business in Superior on the basis of two years ago, when the railroad companies, in order to get around the Wisconsin grain inspection law, leased their elevators to private parties, thus practically closing them to the public use and putting the independent grain dealers out of business.

In addition to requiring them to throw their elevators open to public use, the order also provides that they shall not charge more than they did in the fall of 1904 for similar services.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.

Last Year Benefit Fund Received $76,816 Less Than It Paid Out.

Denver, Colo., July 7.—E. E. Rittenhouse, state commissioner of insurance, in a letter to I. I. Boak, head consul of the Woodmen of the World (Pacific jurisdiction), made public today, called attention to the fact that during the past year, the amount collected for the benefit or mortuary fund was $76,816 less than the benefits paid to members.

Mr. Rittenhouse also finds that an insufficient sum of money is provided for the expenses of the order and that there is unjust discrimination in the rates charged for insurance, the rates to members being about twice that which the original members of the organization are paying.

The insurance commissioner finds that the order is not in compliance with a total of $1,401,953 on hand, most of which is in the reserve fund, but he recommends that the order adopt without delay some method of providing, first, an adequate expense fund; second, elimination of unjust discrimination, and, third, adequate rates to protect policy obligations.

The order has nearly 100,000 members, a quarter of whom reside in Colorado. The recommendations of Mr. Rittenhouse are concurred in by Mr. Boak.

THE Gossard CORSET

Where does the flesh go?

"A Gossard front" Model M, long-soft extension at bottom of front with hook and eye fastening. Medium and large figures. All models 11, 12 and 13 inch front clasp.

"They lace in front" MODEL M

Model "M" attains the summit of corset ideal for the figures embraced by the intentions of its designer—figures of 40 pounds and upwards. It gives a willow grace, the snug hips, long waist line, and the absolutely correct front.

It has a long back, which by its carefully planned lines reduces the hips in appearance and cleverly draws them back thereby imparting the lines of youth.

The soft extension at the bottom of the front clasp with hook and eye fastening, slips in under the abdomen and holds perfectly, forming a support of inestimable value, thus performing a necessary province without the discomfort of long front steels.

The multiplicity of figures make this model desirable in many instances in sizes as small as 12 and always for figures with large hips.
